APPROPRIATION FIGURES.

Einority of the House Committee Propare a Statement Giving Their View.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21. - Representa-Further Particulars About the live Henderson of Iowa, the hignest unking Republican member of the house committee on appropriations, has prepared the following statement as the view of the minority of the Three Were Killed and Fourteen committee on appropriations of the present congress. The statement in part says as follows:

"The total appropriations for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1895, just made by the Fifty-third congress, amounts to $490,668,869. They insluded the permanent sunual appropriations as well as those for the postal service. It includes all appropriations. The total amount appropriations. The total amount appropriated for the last fiscal year ending June 30, 1894, made by the second session of the Fifty-second congress, amounted to $19,504,354. The pension appropriations for last year amounted to $180,581,074, while for amounted to $180,681,074, while for next year it is $151,581,570. This is a just passed for the next year, and leaves a margin of $363,515.

"The second session of the last congress had to appropriate for the eleventh census $1,020,000. This session only had to give $358,580 for that work. The second session of the last congress had to give $953,000 for the World's fair. This congress the ol lest employes on the road, was had nothing to appropriate for that buried under the wreck and was purpose. In the three items of pensions, eleventh census and World's fair, the three cuts aggregated: Pensions, $29,099,504.85; eleventh census, $563.500; World's fair, $958.000; total, $30,721,004.85. Subtract reductions, $28.835,989.70, and the difference of $4,885,015.15 is found over and ated $985.417.183 for the two years of the service. That amount includes deficiences made by the Fiftieth congress amounting to $38,627,448, and included in that was a deficiency for pensions amounting to $25,321,907. By deduct ng the above deficiency, which belonged to the Fiftieth congress, and it left the appropriations of the Fifty-first congress at $349.700,-

734. The senate increased the house bills to the amount of $15.732.977.

"During the last session of the last congress there was appropriated for pensions, including a deficiency of $14.149.724, the total sum of $180.-681.074.85. At this session there is day afternoon at Georgetown, the appropriated for pensions $151,581,570, or $29,099,504 less, which reduction in pensions exceeds the whole apparent net reduction in all appropriations by this session under the last session of the last congress by $235,915."

Mr. Middleton said he did not see how the company could change its present plans. The governor said it was the first time he had ever been asked for help to aid starving men, and he wanted to think it over. He will receive the relief committee of the Pullman strikers to-day, and means for relieving the starving people will be devised. It will in all probability resuit in a proclamation calling upon the people of the state for help.

TO WED A PRINCE.

George M. Pullman's Daughter Is Engaged to Marry a Prince. LONDON, Aug. 21 .- The engagement is announced of Miss Florence Pullman, a daughter of George M. Pullman to Prince of Isenburg-Birstein, the eldest son of Prince Charles of Isenberg-Birstein and the Archduchess Marie Louise of Austria, and cousin of the empress of Austria.

Miss Pullman's father only consented to his daughter's engagement to the prince on condition that the children shall possess the full rights of succession to the title, dignities and hereditary privileges of the house of Isenburg-Birstein.

According to the Austrian law, however, the magnates of the house of Isenburg-Birstein must, by formal document, recognize the equality of Mr. Pullman's grandchildren with their own descendants. If Miss Pullman could obtain the title of princess from some foreign court this difficulty would be over-

Patrick Donahue of Leavenworth Soldiers' Home Killed.

Mary Johnson, a Huckster Shot Him in the Head.

HE WOULDN'T MOVE.

Ordered Off Her Place but Refused to Go.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Aug. 21.noon killed Patrick Donohue, a member of the Soldiers' home, for trespassing. Mrs. Johnson, a widow, resides with her two daughters and a son about a quarter of a mile south of the city limits on the Kansas City wagon road. She runs a truck gar-den, the farm comprising about eleven acres.

She discovered Donohue under an apple tree on her place. She ordered him to leave her premises and, refusing to move, she secured a 32-caliber revolver from the house, walked up to Donohue, who was still under the tree, again warned him to leave her place, and when he again refused Mrs. Johnson aimed the revolver at his head and fired, Donohue fell over dead. The bullet struck above the right ear. Mrs. Johnson then re-turned to the house and placed the gun under the pillow of her bed.

Sheriff Rothenberger was promptly notified and arrested the woman. She refused to say anything about the shooting except she knew the law and when the trial came would talk. She gave a like admonishment to her two daughters, who are aged 16 and 13 respectively. These were later arrested and placed in the jail room with their mother.

day afternoon at Georgetown, the county seat of Scott county, and the home of Hon. W. C. Owens, who is his most powerful opponent in his terrible struggle for re-election. Special trains were run from all parts of the district, the Lexington special from Breekinridge's home taking the largest crowd. The speaking took place in the court room, which held about 600 people. Colonel Breck-invidge was introduced by John A. Lewis of Georgetown. His address was an appeal for mercy, in as much as he had confessed his sins and laid himself at the feet of his people. He told how he loved the people of Scott, but his reference to the late Vice President Richard M. Johnson was so fresh in the minds of the people there that his reception was rather cold. Prof. J. P. Nelson, a teacher in the Kentucky state school at Lexington, was shot in the leg while trying to prevent a difficulty between a negro and a white man name. Glass. Both Nelson and Glass are strong Breckinridge men and Nelson while attempting to shoot the negro hit Glass as above stated.

The big Owens barbeque will be held here at Breckinridge's home Wedn sday. The women of the district interested in the defeat of Breckinridge will furnish a basket danner for 2,500 persons.

TARSNEY CASE ENDED.

Everybody Concerned in the Tar and Feather Outrage Discharged.

COLORADO CITY, Col., Aug. 21 .- The Tarsney outrage cases ended in a faces in Justice McCoache's court yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. District Attorney Cochran appeared before the court and asked that the cases against Robert Taylor, Jack Mullen, Shrem Crumley. Thomas Blair, - Rayan, D. Smith, Walter Skam, Dr. Reed, William Bancroft, Sam Shelenberger, Jay Quackenback, William Saxton and John Doe be dism seed. The district attorney stated that he made this motion for the reason that the evidence in the cases had been received by the grand jury, who had failed to find true bills against any of the defendants. The court granted the motion. Not a person from Denver who had been interesting themselves in the prosecution was present. The people here are disgusted with the whole Prosscuting Attorney Convicted. WEST PLAINS, Mo., Aug 31 .- At the present term of the Ozark county circuit court Moses Sanders, prosecuting attorney of that county, was tried on an indictment in Oregon county for claiming illegal fees. He was con-victed and fined $40. There is a similar indictment, with the addition of perjury, pending against him in this (Howell) county.

It Keeps the Senute Sergeaut-at-Arms Busy Hunting Up Quoruma.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21 -For fifteen or twenty minutes yesterday the business of the senate was suspended while the sergeant-at-arms was sent in search of an actual quorum. The senate was eighteen short of a voting quorum, only twenty-five senators having voted on a non-political motion, thus showing that congress is alowly disintegrating. The four supplemental tariff bills were all reported from the finance committee and sent to the calendar.

Several bills were passed, among them the bill for the speedy prosecu-tion of the claim of the United States against the estate of the late Leland Stanford.

At 1:40 the senate adjourned until Wednesday, after an executive session lasting twenty minutes.

GOVERNMENT ROADS.

Commissioner Hampton Talks About the Indebtedness to the Government. OMAHA, Neb., Aug. 21. - Wade Hampton, United States commissioner of rallroads, is in Omaha, inspecting the Union Pacific. In regard to the solution of the Pacific railroad indebtedness, General Hampton sald: To my mind government owner-ship is not possible. It would take something like $186,000,000 to purchuse the roads known as the government aid-d companies. Think of the interest on the bonds necessary to be floated to accomplish this object, and what the propie would be taked to pay the interest on the bonds. Then the question of transportation would cut no inconsequential figure in the manipulation and operation of the roads own d by the government, so that altogether I believe government ownership entirely out of the question.'

JUST WHO THE BASY IS. Pedigree of the Infant Prince Born to the Duke and Duckess of York. The infant prince who is the third in the line of succession to the throne of England has of course all the ancestry of his illustrious father, and is on his mother's side, through the duke of Teck, sprung from the reigning house of Wurtemberg and from the early kings of Prussia. Though not descended from the elder branch of Stuart, he is a distant cousin of the princess of Bavaria, who is now the head of that line, and he is distantly related to the czar of Russia.

He inherits no title, her majesty having some years ago decreed that the style of royal highness should beloug only to her own children and the children of her sons. No English sovereign before Queen Victoria ever lived to see a great-grandchild. Indeed, none between Edward III and George I even saw a grandchild, with the exception of James II, who survived the infants of his daughter Anne.

Concerning the new prince the Leeds Mercury also notes that he is at the same time third cousin to his father and second cousin, twice removed, to his mother. The duke of Kent and the duke of Cambridge, sons of George III, were brothers. Their respective children. Queen Victoria and the duchess of Teck, are first cousius. In turn the prince of Wales and the duchess of York are second cousins, so that the duke of York and the new prince are, as has been stated, third cousins to each other. On the other hand, the duchess of York is second cousin, once removed, to the duke of York, and therefore second cousin, twice removed, to his son, the new-born prince.

manner never anticipated by the projectors," sa'd Leonard F. Farmer of Hartford, Conn. "For years the problem of how to locate isolated houses on country roads has defied solution. but the long distance telephone people have solved it by adopting the plan of numbering every pole along the wayside. I received a letter the other day from a friend asking me to visit him, and, instead of the usual elaborate directions about stone fronts, peculiarly shaped lots, and variously constructed fences, he told me when I left the d pot to proceed down the main road west until I came to number two thousand and something on the telephone poles, and then to Clause Contract the c turn to the right about 200 yards. The following day I had an opportunity of testing his direct ons and found them simple and accurate. I think the pole numbering s even more explicit than the street naming in cities, and, inst ad of having to ask everyone where my friend lived. I found my friend as easily as if it had been a specified number on Broadway. Of course the numbering of poles is a mere matter of convenience for the corporation, but it is also likely to be a source of equal convenience to prople who live in rural districts, as long-distance telephones will soon connect all the large cities in the union."

Chicken With a Wooden. This snake story comes from Floyd Springs. A large chicken snake captured a small chicken there a month ago and had swallowed its right foot and leg when discovered by the chicken's owner. The snake was killed but not before it had bitten off the chicken's leg. The owner, believing it to be an unusually fine chicken, made a small wooden leg and fastened it on with a strap. The chicken walked off very proudly and pawed up the earth recklessly with its hickory limb.

Might Never Have Met Again. Colonel Ingersoll once called upon the Rev. Phillips Brooks, and the great preacher received him at once, although he had declined to see many distinguished preachers. "Why have you shown me this marked distinction?" inquired the colonel "The reason is simple," replied Dr. Brooks; "if those preachers die, I'll be sure to meet them again in heaven; whereas, had you gone away and died, I should I had better take no chances."
